Dear Mary,

Thanks so much for your note of April 21.

I read the piece on McCarthy with great interest and I think on the whole it is a very adequate appraisal. I am looking forward to reading the second article which I will get at a news stand. I was very much interested that you say that McCarthy's personality is so strong that you were able to deduce just what this man says. In spite of many of its short-comings, he has really a strong personality. The deduction that you make, however, is not one that is made by most people. If you are not always as good on people as in this, you show that you could; my suggestion is practice, and it is very interesting what one discovers.

We are taking a boat to Europe the day after we arrive in New York. With quite a few things I have to take care of there won't be time to call on you. I regret that I shall miss this pleasure. Have a good summer.

With all warmest wishes,

Yours,

Erich Fromm
